

SERIES: GUARDRAILS

Episode 2: "Forever Yours"

In romantic relationships, we all want to avoid unnecessary heartbreak. So how do we protect our most important relationships when we find ourselves veering into dangerous territory?

	QUESTIONS	NOTES
01 >>>>	How do you define "fidelity" or "faithfulness" in a romantic relationship?
02 >>>>	What comes to mind when you hear the word "sin"? Does Andy's definition ("hurting, stealing from, or dishonoring someone") differ from your understanding of sin?
03	Andy mentioned that culture baits us to the edge of disaster and then shames us when we step over certain lines. Have you found this to be true? Explain.
04 >>>>	With whom could you discuss potential areas for sexual guardrails?
05 >>>>	What relationship would a guardrail protect?
06 >>>>	Who can keep you accountable when you're tempted to step over the guardrail?

BOTTOM LINE

The point of a guardrail is to light up our conscience before we hurt ourselves or other people.
